ANALYSIS

WinMan All in One ERP with integrated financials will manage the end-to-end operational, quality and commercial processes of your business whether you are Manufacturers or Distributors

What are the benefits to having integrated financials?

- Centralised data management ensures seamless communication between departments and locations across the business
- Accurate information due to reduced manual data entry and integrated system functionality to ensure reliable and timely financial reporting
- Efficient without duplication, due to automated workflows; processes are streamlined resulting in consistency across all departments
- Real-Time visibility across the whole business with credit control integration for processing of orders and shipments
- Improved customer satisfaction as a result of reduced processing time, all invoices, estimates, payment details and refunds are all within the same system with updates via the customer portal
- Integral purchase invoice automation utilising goods receipt and status checking
- Advanced reporting and business intelligence can be used to track data in real time and monitor trends, allowing for accurate forecasting and the ability to address potential problems before they escalate
- Expenses including receipt photos can be recorded on the go, vastly speeding up the process while reducing the chances of lost or late receipts
- Compliance provide full records to auditors, full traceability from general ledger to subledgers and vice versa, taking the stress out of month end and year end processes

Scan to watch one of WinMan's customers, Access Covers

Access Covers were reluctant to move away from Sage, but after WinMan was implemented, they loved how seamless and intuitive it was. Their accountant said "it is just brilliant and they wouldn't be without it"
